Foundation Studies for Nurses Using Enquiry Based Learning

Enquiry Based Learning (EBL) is an influential approach to nurse education which uses real client experiences as the focus for learning. This textbook aims to equip readers with the necessary foundations on which to build their own nursing practice, and covers all core areas of the curriculum, including all four branches, primary care and midwifery. Each chapter is based around a case history scenario, featuring the appropriate basic biological, psychosocial and nursing background information, that ties this directly to the case history, provides further resources, and enables students to link theory with practice.
