Decolonization and the French of Algeria: Bringing the Settler Colony Home (Cambridge Imperial and Post-Colonial Studies Series) Sung-Eun Choi

In 1962, almost one million people were evacuated from Algeria. France called these citizens Repatriates to hide their French Algerian origins and to integrate them into society. This book is about Repatriation and how it became central to France's postcolonial understanding of decolonization, the Algerian past, and French identity.
